The Claretian Communications Foundation, Inc. (CCFI) operates Claretian Publications in the Philippines. Sometime in July 2011, CCFI streamlined its over ten book categories into five, namely: Scriptural, Seasonal, Theology, Religious, and Pastoral-Missiological.

And Pastoral-Missiological embraces Liturgy, Sacraments, Catechism, Church Documents, Counseling, Inspirational and General Interest.

CCFI endeavors to provide you with the most relevant books that can nourish both personal and communitarian needs of individuals, communities or institutions. Included in this catalog are: latest published books this 2011-2014, locally printed books 5 or more years back that are still being patronized in the market, foreign books coming from prestigious publishers in the United States, Canada and Denmark like Liturgical Press, Orbis Books, Catholic Book Publishing, Liturgy Training Publications, Paulist Press, Novalis, Scandinavia Publishing House, etc.. In this catalog, we also have featured books about or written by Pope Francis who is giving new vigor and inspiration in the church and the world today.

As part of the strengthening program of CCFI, the FilCatholic Magazine Website will be launched soon. The publication of the FilCatholic Magazine in print will be stopped next year but its publication online will commence first quarter of 2015. We hope to provide more creativity in making the Word of God more accessible to all through this website.

Enjoy reading our latest catalogue!

A SHORT HISTORY

In 1981, the Philippine Province of the Claretian Missionaries initiated a program of dialogue between Latin America and the Philippines as a special service to the local Church to provoke an openness and establish a network of communication between countries and continents, especially in the Third World. Fr. Alberto Rossa, CMF an Argentine Claretian in the Philippines was assigned to coordinate the "dialogue project" on a "part-time basis". It was in this context that the idea of following up the initial dialogue through publications came.

There were also other factors that would eventually encourage the establishment of a new publishing house in the Philippines. There was the Chabacano (a Filipinized form of Spanish which is the language in the mission area of the Congregation in the Southern Philippines) New Testament translation project of the Congregation, then the work of Br. Antoni Daufi, CMF, who by 1980 had published some catechetical materials with the help of the USA Western Province. And finally, the contacts with the Claretians of the USA Eastern Province and their assistance to the Philippine Claretians through co-publication of books on religious life and initial financial assistance.

Hence, Claretian Publications (CP) was established in 1983, with Fr. Alberto Rossa, CMF as its first director.

CP began with only a part-time director, a secretary and an assistant. By 1984, CP bought an old and small printing press to be paid in three years from its own funds. And the press was housed in the basement of the parish church in Quezon City.

In 1992, Claretian Publications was renamed as Claretian Communications, Inc. (CCI). In the later part of the 1990's the printing press was sold, but the work in the publications continued.

In July 2002, CCI was made into a Foundation, with its new name Claretian Communications Foundation, Inc. (CCFI).

Today, CCFI has established a name in religious publishing with quality printing and contents. The books sell at a price people can afford as it responds to the call of evangelization using what is most urgent, timely and effective.

WHAT HAVE WE DONE?

CCFI began as a publishing house reprinting books as part of the pastoral exchange program of the Congregation in the Philippines. Later, it also began translating and publishing works of Latin American theologians.

As CCFI gained more experience in this pioneering ministry of the Congregation in the Philippines, so did the scope of its work. CCFI has published and reprinted more than a thousand titles, since it was established more than 30 years ago. Today, we can see the wide range of CCFI's publication, which are categorized as: Scriptural, Seasonal, Theology, Religious, and Pastoral-Missiological.

1. Scriptural Books. As a commitment to the Church's mission to spread the Word of God efficiently to people from all walks of life, CCFI promotes the use of the Christian Community Bible to families, in educational and religious institutions, and to priests, religious and lay people for pastoral works and popular mission. CCFI also publishes books with biblical commentaries, dictionaries, concordance, etc.

2. Seasonal Books (e.g. Bible Diary, Daily Gospel, PANG Araw-araw, Pandesal, Catholic Directory of the Philippines). The Bible Diary, Daily Gospel, PANG-Araw-araw and Pandesal contain the full Gospel readings of the mass for Weekdays and Sundays with commentaries and reflections written by known authors and writers. These are CCFI's best-sellers that people have found to be practical daily reading-reflection guides.

The Catholic Directory of the Philippines contains the list of names, addresses, contact numbers and other relevant information on the local church hierarchy, priests, religious and Catholic institutions in the Philippines.

3. Theology. To stress the concepts of solidarity and a new spirituality, CCFI offers books on Theology to help those who search for a new way of being Church. Deeply rooted and founded in the Tradition of the Church, these books aim to provide a strong foundation for Christian commitment from the perspective of the poor.

4. Religious Books. In response to the search and the growing need for ongoing formation among religious/consecrated men and women, CCFI offers books that are geared towards the study, information and orientation of the religious and religious institutes. These books present monographic issues on well-harmonized theoretical and practical dimensions of religious life wherein the themes studied find concretization in experience of a lifestyle more inculturated and inserted, more prophetic and evangelical. Aside from religious books, CCFI also offers titles with themes on Spirituality, Religion, Meditation, and Prayer.

5. Pastoral-Missiological. This category includes books and other reading materials in Liturgy, Sacraments, Counseling, Church Documents, Inspirational, and General Interest.

LAY PARTICIPATION

CCFI is practically run by lay people, with its 42 employees. It is composed of three divisions, each headed by a Manager, with their corresponding departments: Administration and Finance (HR, Accounting, General Services, and Systems and Information Management), Marketing (Sales, Ads and Promotions and Claretian Bookstore) and Production (Editorial and Product Development, Foreign Orders and Rights, and Logistics).

CCFI has a Board of Trustees composed of members of the Provincial Government of the Claretian Philippine Province. Two Filipino Claretians are now directly involved in this apostolic work of the province as Executive Director and Assistant Director, respectively.

Fundamental Theology of the Forms of Christian Life

(Historical Perspective) Vol. I

It is significant that Vatican II has dedicated four chapters of the Constitution Lumen Gentium to the different forms of Christian life: to the ordained ministry (chapter III); to the laity (chapter IV); to the religious (chapter VI); and to all Christians called to sanctity (chapter V). Vatican II has taught us to understand the Church as a community of convoked people, where every form of Christian life is mutually developed and vivified. Vatican II has placed the foundation for an "existential ecclesiology" or an ecclesiology of the forms of Christian life or a "theological-charismatic anthropology."

Jesus of Nazareth

What He Wanted, Who He Was

Gerhard Lohfink

Gerhard Lohfink's Jesus of Nazareth is the culmination of decades of careful investigation and reflection. The result is a portrait that is impressive in scope and astonishing for its insights. Lohfink squarely faces important issues about the nature of fact, history, and interpretation, and he takes very seriously the Jewishness of Jesus. What results are fascinating insights into Jesus' miracles, his preaching, his celibacy, and what it means to be his disciple. Lohfink offers deeper understandings of what the Scriptures meant to Jesus, his relationship with the state, and the connection between the reign of God he preached and the death he died. He lays out a fascinating and convincing argument, contrary to many contemporary scholars, that Jesus consciously understood his own death as an act of atonement and expressed it clearly at the Last Supper. Lohfink's approach is altogether historical and critical, but he agrees with Karl Barth that "historical criticism has to be more critical." The result is a convincing and profound picture of Jesus. Everyone who values being a Christian will find enrichment here.

Theology from the Heart of Asia

FABC Doctoral Dissertations II (1998-2008)

ISBN: 978-971-0511-26-6

This two-volume work seeks to promote this "self-discovery process" within Asia's Christian communities; it highlights Asian perspectives in theological reflection and pastoral life. It gathers together all the completed doctoral dissertations focused on the Federation of Asian Bishops' Conferences (FABC), that continental community of Asian Churches which emerged from the November 1970 pastoral visit of Pope Paul VI to Asia. In Manila, the pope met with 180 Asian bishops and they discerned how best to enhance the reception of the Second Vatican Council in Asia. In subsequent years, the FABC vision of inculturated, missionary local churches has captured the imagination of many Catholics across the Asian continent.

Virtues for Ordinary Christians

James F. Keenan, SJ

At a time when principles animate so much moral talk in professional life, this book offers virtue as the starting point for doing moral reflection and for giving moral advice. Taking familiar patterns from ordinary life – family, schools, parishes, business – Keenan weaves one virtue after another through the fabric of human existence. Along the way he offers not only the traditional virtues – charity, justice, temperance, courage, fortitude – but also some new ones: fidelity, self-esteem, hospitality, gratitude and truthfulness.

Catholic Moral Theology & Social Ethics

A New Method

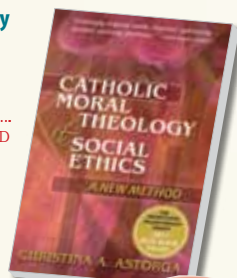

Christina A. Astorga

★ 2014 BEST BOOK AWARD
from The United States
College Theology Society ★

This book recasts our understanding of the disciplines of moral theology and social ethics by drawing from the wealth of the entire theological enterprise. Its integral and holistic method shows the place of reason, imagination, affectivity, and spirituality in relation to morality, particularly in making choices in conflict situations. In Christian morality there is not just something of the scientist at work, there is also the artist, the believer, and the mystic.

On Religion

The Revelation of God
as the Sublimation of Religion

Karl Barth | Garrett Green,
Translator

The study of Karl Barth has generally been excluded from religious studies departments in favor of more liberal theologians such as Tillich. For many years scholar Garrett Green has argued that there is no justification for this neglect. To support his theory that Barth can and should be studied as a religious theorist rather than just a theologian, Garrett Green presents a brand new translation of Chapter 17 of Karl Barth's Church Dogmatics prefaced by a detailed introduction to the text. This important new translation counters the idea that Barth rejected the notion of religion out of hand by correcting a number of errors in the original version which obscure Barth's central argument.

History, Theology & Faith

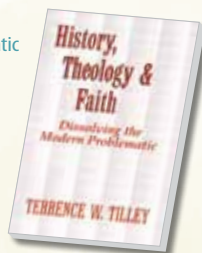

Dissolving the Modern Problematic

Terrence W. Tilley

After laying out the "problematic," Tilley analyzes current approaches to the relationship between history and theology and then shows how they affect faith. He argues that there is no single pattern of relationships between the two disciplines and that multiple patterns should be recognized. When accurately understood and properly used, historical investigations, so often construed as undermining faith, do no such thing; indeed, they can actually increase or strengthen faith.

Peace at the Last

A Christian Theology of the Last Things

Colm Mckeating

★ 2010 Cardinal Sin Catholic
Book Awards Best Book in Theology and Liturgy ★

This book is a pleasantly readable and inspiring presentation of the Last Things, a subject which does not lend itself easily to interesting reading. His treatment of the Last Things, seeing it all as a theology of hope from the perspective of God's love is refreshing. And he makes his subject very relevant when he states correctly, "Every revelation of the past or of the future is intended for the present life and is meant to instruct and challenge us."

The Selfless Way of Christ

Downward Mobility and the Spiritual Life

In this short work Henri Nouwen offers a penetrating reflection on the challenge of the spiritual life, especially the call to imitate Christ's example of "downward mobility." This vocation is sorely tested by the constant celebration of "upward mobility," which brings to mind the temptations Christ faced in the wilderness: to be "powerful, relevant, and spectacular." To prepare for this path, Nouwen describes the "disciplines of spiritual formation," represented by the Church, the Word of God, and the promptings of our heart.

The Paschal Mystery and Divine Compassion

The Glory of the Father placarded; Beauty... a billion times told lovelier!

NEW!

Antonio V. Romualdez

This book is an invitation to prayerful reflection during Holy Week on what Jesus, as reported in John's gospel, intended to communicate to his followers then and now, when he spoke of the hour of his being lifted up as the moment when the Son of Man—and the Father as well—is to be "glorified". Is the Cross itself some kind of "universal notice" then to be "lifted up"? A demonstration of sorts? Is Christ's utter humiliation at the same time a glorification? Is the Cross the Father's glorification too—a self-revelation really and a "universal notice" of infinite Love? Is that what it means then, that the Son on the Cross reveals—or maybe more aptly, placards—the very inner being of the Father because "anyone who sees me sees the Father"? What this book offers are a few thoughts and images that, put together one way or another, could evoke answers to questions from the farthest corners of your hearts, and even perhaps from the depths of what a priest-friend once called an "Abba experience" in the solitude and silence of a retreat.

Mary's Best Memories

Reflections on the Mysteries of the Rosary

Salvatore J. Bonano, CMF

Like a body without a soul, is the way Pope John Paul II describes the Rosary without contemplation, citing Paul VI, "Without it, the recitation (of the Rosary) runs the risk of becoming a mechanical repetition of formulas, in violation of the admonition of Christ: 'In praying do not heap up empty phrases as the Gentiles do; for they think they will be heard for their many words' (Mt. 6:7)." Deep reflection, then, on the mysteries of the lives of Jesus and Mary are the heart and soul of the Rosary. One moves gradually from a mediocre life of grace to a more intimate union with God.

I, Paul

Salvatore J. Bonano, CMF, STD

The Vatican document Nostra Aestete (1965) pleads for forgiveness for past injustices and pledges reform. It wants us to acknowledge and appreciate what Judaism has to offer for the betterment of our world and to work together on social justice projects. This volume makes its own humble contribution to such topics as the need to study each other's Scriptures, the concept of holiness in our traditions and a brief look at the charge of "legalism." In the current debate on a mission to the Jews, the author believes that Christians with their acceptance of the Messiah are in a position to see that from the earliest apostolic times there has been a witness that presents the mission precisely to the Jews.

Gregory Palamas and the Great Spiritual Traditions of Asia: The Encounter's Relevance to Asian Religious Life

Fr. Canilang's well-researched study is a groundbreaking work which investigates in depth the spiritual teaching of Gregory Palamas—as found specially in the 18th century ascetic-mystical Philokalia anthropology—and brings it into exploratory dialogue with the rich and varied spiritual heritage of Asian cultures and religions. Fr. Canilang's reflection is remarkably comprehensive in its striving to "touch all the bases" relevant to Christian life, mission and ministry in the Asia of our time. It also meets the imperative to enter into inter-religious dialogue even in the area of spirituality. – C.G. Arevalo, SJ

Seeds of Formation

With deep concern, I offer these seeds – the passion of service to persons, to our Congregation or Diocese, to the Church, and to the world in the perspective of God.

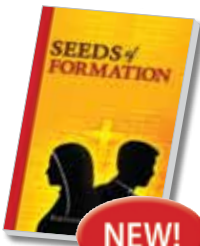

Vocation is above all a grace, a gift of the Lord Jesus through the Holy Spirit that draws a Christian, starting from Baptism to a special consecration to Him.

Therefore, the mission to take care of vocations is above all the task of the mysterious collaboration with this call from God that demands discernment, care, and fulfillment. This is the risk and the beauty of this specific commitment. We need the abundant gifts of the Holy Spirit, mostly intelligence, wisdom and counsel.

May the Lord's blessing make these insignificant seeds grow, and may many seminarians, religious, men and women, find in them their nests of light and peace.

Vocation, Consecration, Formation, Doing Discernment

"Every young person has to decide his future work, specific love and religious faith. In these decisions the perspective of consecrated life or priestly apostolate can appear as an actual possible call of the Lord. But it will be necessary to reflect upon the reasons that lead to this kind of choice, and to purify them, discovering the true profundity of vocation. Only this awareness can permit the constant thanksgiving for the Lord's appeal, which is to follow the Cantic of Mary."

Francis

The Pope from the End of the World

Jose Ruiz Marquez

The Catholic Church and people of good will around the world have begun a journey walking with Pope Francis. Holding the papal office, a position of immense power, the Pope, in his inaugural address declared to the world, "True power is service." He comes from "almost the end of the world" as he also said in his first greeting. The "end of the world" could well mean his option for and commitment to the poor. The passion for the poor is what catapults him to papacy and it will continue to lead the church, a Church close to people and, above all, to the poor and afflicted.

John Allen, Jr.

Since his election, Pope Francis has captured the attention of media and the people. Transfixed by his charisma and the many firsts of his papacy—first pope from the Americas, first Jesuit pope, and first to be named Francis—they are now eager to know the substance of the man. In 10 Things Pope Francis Wants You to Know, John L. Allen, Jr., writes with intimacy and clarity, from the perspective of his decades of experience covering the papacy.

Against the Tide

The Radical Leadership of Pope Francis

John Allen, Jr.

Pope Francis has fascinated the world with his humility, his compassion, and his radical vision for the Church. He has welcomed the homeless into the Vatican, embraced people with diseases, and shaken a complacent hierarchy. Shepherds, he said, should acquire the smell of the sheep. In short, as he has urged young people to do, he swims against the tide.

A Year with Pope Francis

Daily Reflections from His Writings

Fr. Alberto Rossa, CMF

To understand Pope Francis' background, we have selected from all his previous writings some quotations that, as a whole, could give us a glimpse of what we are to expect from him as Pope.

The selection of his words is organized in the form of a calendar for daily prayer and reflection. They are small "beads" of his thought, pedagogically arranged to illumine your days, linking them into a living rosary of the mystery of our faith.

Why I Love Pope Francis

Earnest L. Tan

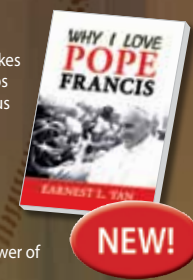

Pope Francis is a challenge. He shakes us up to make us better. He disturbs us from our complacency and status quo attitude. He humbles us with his humility. He has slowly moved the Church from being dogmatic, self-enclosed and authoritative institution to being gentle, outreaching, compassionate and persuasive Church through the power of love and mercy.

"With this little book, the readers are given a wonderful opportunity to learn more deeply and love more intensely Pope Francis who keeps challenging us all to follow his example of simple and joyful life."

What Happened at Vatican II

John W. O'Malley

This is the first book, solidly based on official documentation, to give a brief, readable account of the Vatican Council II from the moment Pope John XXIII announced it on January 25, 1959, until its conclusion on December 8, 1965; and to locate the issues that emerge in this narrative in their contexts, large and small, historical and theological, thereby providing keys for grasping what the council hoped to accomplish. What Happened at Vatican II captures the drama of the council, depicting the colorful characters involved and their clashes with one another. The book also offers a new set of interpretive categories for understanding the council's dynamics—categories that move beyond the tired "progressive" and "conservative" labels. On the fiftieth anniversary of the calling of the council, this work reveals in a new way the spirit of Vatican II. A reliable, even-handed introduction to the council, the book is a critical resource for understanding the Catholic church today, including the pontificate of Benedict XVI.

Parish Catechetical Instruction according to the 1983 Code of Canon Law

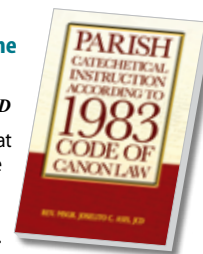

Rev. Msgr. Joselito C. Asis, JCD

"The ministry of catechesis is at the core of the teaching office of the Church. Catechesis is a duty that our baptism into Christ has imposed upon us... Catechesis is often presented from the perspective of theology and pastoral ministry. To look at catechesis from the point of view of Canon Law is both interesting and unique. Monsignor Asis successfully does this interesting and unique task. I encourage my fellow pastors and students of theology to avail of the rich insights in this book and apply them to our life and ministry as servants of the Word"

Really?

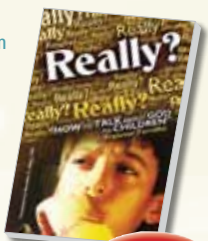

How to Talk about God to Children

Francesc Torralba | Translated by Benedict S. Dilag, CMF

"A child poses a lot of impertinent questions. His questions often make us blush. His demands demonstrate the unbearable lightness of our knowledge, the fragility of our theories. A child does not know yet taboos nor politically correct language. When he interrogates, he expects answers. Those of us who believe that God is love, the cosmic force that empowers the person and leads him to his maximum potential are not indifferent to talk about God to children of the 21st century, because we believe that it is worth to discover in the depths of our being that creative power of goodness, truth and beauty."

Art and the Creation Stories

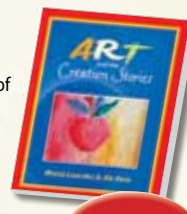

Maria Lourdes A. De Vera

Learning becomes fun and exciting through storytelling and painting. Children have an innate love of stories that create a sense of wonder and magic.

Likewise, Art is basic in teaching. Children at their prime age are able to express their feeling and emotions in a safe way through making, looking at, and talking about their own artwork and the art of others. Children are helped through art to develop perceptual abilities while able to practice and gain fine muscle control and strengthened eye-hand motor coordination. These are few of the many things one can obtain through art.

All Saints

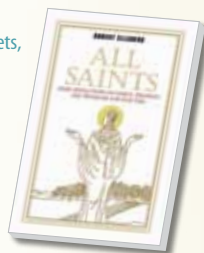

Daily Reflections on Saints, Prophets, and Witnesses for Our Time

Robert Ellsberg

Saints have typically been figures from the distant past, canonized for miraculous lives of perfection and self-denial. Ellsberg here redefines this stereotype in this diverse and substantial compendium of the lives of men and women, ancient and contemporary, who gave themselves completely to their vocations. A different figure is introduced for each day of the year to coincide with feast days or birth/death dates, and helpful biographical sources are provided.

The Unbelievable Gift

The Real Presence of Jesus in the Eucharist

Salvatore J. Bonano, CMF, STD

The temptation is always there to water down Jesus' self-gift in the Eucharist to a mere memorial of himself, rather than to accept him as he really is, in his very self in real life. In this book, the author aims to stress, in the light of much disbelief; a) the real giftedness of Jesus' love in the Mass and the Blessed Sacrament, and b) with the aid of the Church Fathers, to point out that we can tap into wide sources of spiritual growth by receiving the Lord in Holy Communion.

He takes up current theological scholarship and pushes it a step further by creating a teaching paradigm that can help modify the mindset and misunderstandings of many Catholic Filipinos regarding the place and meaning of the sacraments in their lives—all in view of a more informed, vibrant, communal, inculturated, and ethically-oriented liturgical life in the Philippines.

The Drama of the Eucharist

Timothy Radcliffe

The Eucharist, writes Timothy Radcliffe, is a three part drama, forming us in faith, hope and love. In this book he examines what it means to celebrate the Eucharist. Other people experience it as boring and pointless. Listening to the readings, the homily and the creed all take us through the crises and challenges of faith. From the offertory through to the end of the Eucharistic prayer we are caught up in the hope that was Christ's, faced with Good Friday. From the Our Father until we are sent on our way, especially in receiving communion, we are formed as people who are capable of love.

HANDBOOK FOR LITURGICAL STUDIES

Edited by: Anscar J. Chupungco, OSB

This handbook, in five volumes, represents a complete course of liturgical studies which the Pontifical Liturgical Institute offers to professors and students of liturgy in universities and seminaries and to other persons engaged in liturgical ministry. It is offered as model, source, and reference.

Volume I: Introduction to the Liturgy

This introductory volume offers a working definition of the liturgy, reviews its historical development, and presents its sources.

©2004 | Paper Cover | 440 pp. | Php 650

ISBN: 971-0307-10-X

Volume II: Fundamental Liturgy

What concepts must one have in order to understand and explain the nature and purpose, the plan and actualization, and the relational character of the liturgy? This second volume addresses this question in three parts – epistemology, celebration, and human sciences – which develop the foundational concepts of the liturgy. It leads the reader to a deeper understanding of the liturgy by examining the basic concepts that belong to its definition.

Volume III: The Eucharist

This volume contributes to the reflection on the meaning and purpose of the Eucharistic celebration. It also offers to teachers and students of liturgy a handbook for studying this subject according to a system based on historical development, theology and doctrine, liturgical texts and traditions in both East and West, and pastoral considerations.

Volume IV: Sacraments and Sacramentals

This volume contributes to a deeper understanding of the nature and purpose of sacraments and sacramentals and leads the reader to a more critical appreciation of Vatican II decrees and what the postconciliar reform has implemented.

Volume V: Liturgical Time and Space

This volume opens with a preliminary notion of time and space, before discussing in detail three types of liturgical celebrations on which time and space have a direct and particular bearing. These are the Liturgy of the Hours, the Liturgical Year and the theology and spirituality of the Liturgical Year. The theology of liturgical space is drawn from the mutual interaction between the assembled community, which gives meaning to the place of assembly, and the place itself, which upholds and signifies community.

What, Then, is Liturgy? Musings and Memoir

Father Anscar Chupungco fondly recalls his first class as a student at the Pontifical Liturgical Institute in 1965. Professor Salvatore Marsili famed theologian, liturgist, and cofounder of the institute entered the lecture hall, and after a prolonged and awkward silence finally asked, “And so, what is liturgy?” This seemingly simple question underlies Chupungco’s untiring love for liturgy and his lifetime of searching for answers. His is a passion deeply rooted in tradition, which is evident in this volume. Relying on Scripture, patristic writers, and conciliar and postconciliar documents and with great skill, prudence, and the fundamental virtue of obedience he carefully examines current liturgical trends that are the subject of fierce debate. At a time when we focus so intently on the debate itself, Chupungco cautions us to remember: “At the end of the day what matters are not personal opinions but what truly contributes to making the prayer of the Church an encounter with the person of Christ.” It is this most sacred encounter that is at the heart of What, Then, Is Liturgy? And it is this encounter that will lead us day by day to the ultimate heavenly liturgy, our eternal and perfect offering of praise to God.

General Intercessions

The message of Fr. Camilo J. Marivoet, CICM, is encouraging: “Think of your communities, their needs and aspirations, the stage of their faith, their education, their religious and secular culture. Adapt yourself to them. Give them the Good News to the extent they can digest and live it. Bring them closer to God and help them to see and live how near God is to them in their everyday life.” This book offers models that can make our Eucharistic celebrations much more pastoral, much closer to the lives of the people, as you keep in mind the nature of the different parts of the Mass.

Prayers of the Faithful Cycles A, B, C

The Prayers of the Faithful, or general intercessions, restored to the eucharistic liturgy in the liturgical reforms following Vatican Council II has by now become common practice. In this prayer “the people exercise their priestly function by praying for all mankind” (General Instruction on the Roman Missal, no. 45). The petitions in this book, since they attempt to express the needs and concerns of present-day congregations, have been composed by various people, young and old, clerical, religious and lay.

Callings on the Crossroads

Gospel Reflections Year A

It is the attempt of this book to stimulate the interest of readers to flesh-and-blood stories of real people vis-à-vis the Sunday gospels. The contextualization of their situation in the light of the Scripture readings is meant to help us better relate our own unique stories to a fresh dimension of realization of the Truth of God. May Christ be our calling not simply at, but on the very crossroads of our lives. He is where He is to be found: on the very crossroad of our being – in a heart beating in love with His Mother's love.

Markings on the Desert

Gospel Reflections Year B

To face our desert is to confront our helplessness. In the poverty of our spirit, He alone can raise us up to salvation. Faith in His love is our only hope and we are not disappointed. Our hearts are filled and glowing with delight. We are no longer afraid of the desert. It is now our friend. God's grace is buried under the darkness of the sands – so that the germination of the kingdom may come to pass in us. Life will be determined by the fruits of the desert adventure. Only when an individual follows God's markings can he return to Him, or such an individual cannot return to himself at all. Come, let the journey begin...

Cravings of the Heart

Gospel Reflections Year C

The heart is the center of gravity in man. It is restless, so they say, of reason, of purpose, of true happiness, of love and of immortality. Quench all else and we still thirst. Bloat ourselves with assets and we still hunger. Fill ourselves with illusions and we still look for the truth. Load ourselves with positions and we are still pierced with emptiness. Cravings. There are many, so we thought.

This is a compilation of the author's weekly columns for the Asian Journal of San Diego, California, USA. Even though Simon Peter felt frustrated after a nightlong toil with no catch at all, because this seasoned fisherman followed Jesus' advice, "Lower your nets for a catch," a miracle happened. Just as Peter did much as a fisherman gathers in fish in his net, so we too play a role of gathering human beings into the kingdom that Jesus has come to preach.

This book contains Sunday Scriptures, reflections and quotations that are seasoned with humor. It is recommended reading for clergy and laity.

Megan McKenna writes from a Catholic point of view, with brief, yet sharp, reflections on the Sundays of Years A, B, C (Volume 1) and the Daily Readings of Years I and II (Volume 2). These reflections are inspired by Dei Verbum 21 (Vatican II's Dogmatic Constitution on Divine Revelation), which declares God's speech to us in Scripture to be the strength of faith for the church's children, the food of the soul, and the pure and perennial source of spiritual life. These books are meant to help all savor the word of God in the Eucharistic liturgy.

God's Mission and Postmodern Culture*The Gift of UncertaintyJohn C. Sivalon, MM

"In this book, John Sivalon brings together his passion for mission, his love for the church, his appreciation of contemporary culture, and his vast experience as a leader of the Maryknoll missionaries into a deeply reflective, inspiring, and profound development of God's missionary nature and its implications for our ecclesial and missionary life. I think that he has made an original contribution to the understanding of Missio Dei, the mission we share by God's amazing grace. This is a truly important book, and one that I will surely share with my students and colleagues alike." – Stephen B. Bevans, SVD, Catholic Theological Union

The Way of Goodness and HolinessA Spirituality for Pastoral MinistersRichard M. Gula

How do ministers, whether lay or ordained, form their spiritual life? What practices do they need to foster in order to become good and to be holy in their service? Richard Gula invites readers to think along with him about the kind of minister they want to be as he presents a variety of virtues including gratitude, self-care, humor, and courage and explains how developing these qualities is essential for a minister's moral and spiritual life. By grounding a spirituality for pastoral ministry in the virtues, Gula provides a way for ministers to bridge the gap between who they are and who they hope to become in imitation of Christ Jesus.

Adult Faith Development in the 21st Century

The relatively new culture of the adult faith-seeker originated in the closing decades of the twentieth century as developmental psychology highlighted the changing nature of growth and maturity at different life-stages. The co-dependency of earlier times, expecting adults to believe what religious authorities taught, is alien to contemporary adult religious maturity. Adult faith has arrived at a new threshold, requiring novel approaches and strategies in the religious development of adult people. Diarmuid O'Murchu charts this evolutionary development, highlighting dimensions of conventional religion which no longer inspire or offer hope, along with the creative and challenging spiritual horizons which contemporary adults seek to embrace.

Our World in TransitionMaking Sense of a Changing World*

This best-selling author presents his startling and challenging theory that we live in an age of transition, where the old ways of relating to the world and each other are now redundant; he argues that the coming together over the last thirty years of ecological concerns, scientific exploration, human seeking and spiritual consciousness is the only way forward if we are to continue to be able to live on this planet. O'Murchu's message that a dramatic evaluation of humankind's priorities is not necessary but also inevitable, and is aimed at everyone with an inquiring mind.

The Word-Mission Project is a journey made with other people. It gives a unique perspective to the study of the Word: 1) by integrating the daily reading of the Word in the life and rhythm of the individual and of the group who wish to make this journey; 2) by going beyond mere reading of the Word in its critical and textual level so that it will truly be a spiritual reading of God's Word; 3) by reading the Word in view of service, that is, the Word as a source of spirituality and energy in one's commitment to serve the other.

The First Five Years of the Priesthood

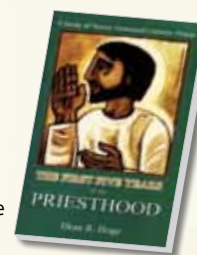

A Study of Newly Ordained Catholic Priests

Dean R. Hoge

This book reports what was learned from interviews with five hundred priests who were within five years of ordination and seventy-two recently ordained priests who had resigned. The research indicated that 10 to 15 percent of priests resigned within the first five years of their ministry due to loneliness, feelings of being unappreciated, problems of celibacy and disillusionment. The priests who remained active reported that satisfaction with their ministry came particularly from presiding at the Eucharist, preaching, and teaching.

Journey Into the Heart of Christ

Letters to Seminary Students on Life, Faith and Formation

Ferdinand Santos

As a seminary student progresses in his journey into the heart of Christ, he discovers more and more the foundational reality of the priesthood, namely, that a priest is a spiritual leader, nothing more, and nothing less. He must be a spiritual man. This perhaps is the simple, but also the most profound realization one makes; or should make. It almost sounds too simple. And yet it is precisely because of its simplicity that many forget it. It is because it seems "too simple" that in the history of the church, many have lost sight of it and have sought to complicate it with every sort of externality: power, ambition, title, honor, popularity, and wealth; all with disastrous results.

★ 2008 CARDINAL SIN CATHOLIC BOOK AWARDS WINNER – Emerging Author Category ★

Fr. Buddy reveals much of himself, his life, what he has experienced, his questions, his joys and hopes, his dreams. His poems bare to us the heart within the man; his homilies and addresses, the mind and hand within him. Through his poetry, it is hoped we also see ourselves as beings bowing to a mighty Creator; through his homilies and addresses, it is hoped we realize ourselves as being empowered by the same Creator who has called us from the very beginning to a life of communion and love.

Pope Francis, the Catholic Bishop and the Priest

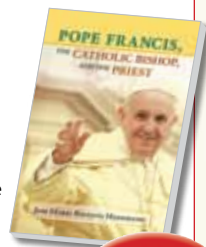

Jose Mario Bautista Maximiano

The book is not a heavy reading. It is at the same time informative and formative. The priests and the seminarians of the major seminary will profit from reading it since they will fill in it several nuggets of gold they can profitably meditate on for many months. Even the laity can find the book helpful to better understand their "mysterious" pastors.

The book also underscores that, though the Catholic Church's members are human and therefore sinners like the rest of humanity, the Church is also "divine" because her founder, Jesus Christ, is divine and promised that He will be with her till the end of time. If the Church was merely human, it would have disappeared a long time ago.

In this collection of essays, twelve priests (including four bishops) reflect on the spirituality of the diocesan priest from their personal and pastoral experience.

What Do I Own and What Owns Me? A Spirituality of Stewardship

Stewardship is one of the chief characteristics of what it means to be a disciple of Jesus Christ. It is the practical means of acknowledging that life is a gift to be cherished, shared, and given back to God with increase. To clarify and exemplify his message, Conway offers insightful reflections, moving stories, and practical reflection questions for individual and group use. This book is invaluable for parish stewardship committees, parish counselors, pastoral ministers, and all who have a profound desire to live as disciples of Christ.

More Than Silver Or Gold Homilies of a Stewardship Priest

Daniel J. Mahan

Stewardship is not a contrived, politically correct euphemism for talking about money, but a way of life, a spirituality, deeply rooted in the person of Jesus Christ, with the power to change our lives for the better and to transform our deeply troubled world. In living the spirituality of a good steward, one grows in holiness and virtue, with a deepening devotion to the Holy Eucharist, and the great treasure that rust cannot tarnish nor moth destroy nor thief steal away – the precious gift worth infinitely MORE THAN SILVER OR GOLD.

Becoming Friends Worship, Justice, and the Practice of Christian Friendship

Paul J. Wadell

This engaging and accessible book offers a fresh viewpoint from which to explore the nature of Christian friendship. Such friendship, Wadell contends, is more than a bonding of people with similar interests, a "ritual of hopeless consolation." True Christian friendship summons us to love all of our neighbors. Wadell examines obstacles to and characteristics of true friendship and, drawing from the works of Augustine, Aelred of Rievaulx, and other Christian exemplars, contends that we are called to serve God through friendship and that this calling requires us to cultivate certain virtues – especially hope, justice, and forgiveness.

Surprising Daughters of Hope

Barbara Paleczny

Hope stirs our hearts. Hope brings us together. Hope inspires. Hope heals. This book is about hope, making room for it, finding it, being strengthened in it and sharing it. Barbara Paleczny leads readers on an inner journey through down-to-Earth personal awareness and renewed appreciation for the power of images of symbols to heal and to release creative energy. Within the ever-expanding cosmos, we realize that all creation is profoundly one, with its life flowing in and through you and me. Consciousness leads to conscience as we remember that all good Earth energy strengthens us while destruction and suffering for one harms all.

Practicing Peace

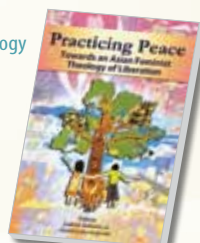

Towards an Asian Feminist Theology and Liberation

Editors: Judette Gallares, RC |
Astrid Lobo-Gajiwala

As it is the ethos of EWA (Ecclesia of Women in Asia) to create a forum for inclusive, participatory and meaningful dialogue among its delegates, the exchanges during the conference signaled to the participants that this dialogue extends beyond the conference itself. There was energy and inspiration to bring back to their respective places, countries and ministry the insights generated by the conference. Those of us who were privileged to be at the conference realized that we could not but engage in the ongoing dialogue and reflection on the vital role of Asian women theologians in the academe and in the grassroots to find more creative ways of engaging in the praxis of peace that leads to liberation.

The Jesus of Asian Women

Women from the Margins

Muriel Orevillo-Montenegro

This critical survey of Asian christologies focuses on the need to recognize and end the oppressed condition of Asian women who suffer from poverty, cultural strictures, gender discrimination, and a lack of access to basic human rights. Muriel Orevillo-Montenegro shows how the christologies brought to Asia by Western missionaries often failed to take into account the realities of Asia: its great diversity of cultures as well as its varieties of religious expression. She then describes christologies developed by male Asian theologians as well as those developed by women in India, Korea, the Philippines, and Hong Kong.

How to Love Again

Moving from Grief to Growth

Are you suffering from a deep loss in your life? How to Love Again is a book that can offer you comfort in a time of despair. It is intended to accompany you on the journey you are about to make. You may want to read it from cover to cover, or meditate on it, or refer back to those passages that most inspire you. The author describes the kind of healing that comes after loss: "In the same way the physical body deals with physical wound, the emotional body begins a healing process the moment the emotional trauma occurs. Allow the natural wisdom of your healing system to come to your rescue. Eventually the pain will subside, and you will then be more aware of life around you, more open to happiness, more fully human once again."

A Journey to the Kingdom in the Spirit

Ruben C. Mendoza

This book articulates the ways in which the Church in Asia can have an "Asian face." It stresses the primary role of the Holy Spirit in "understanding and interpreting other religious traditions and how the Church is to relate with their followers." The Catholic Church alone cannot fully discern the manifestations of the Holy Spirit without being enriched by its engagement and dialogue with other Asian Faiths and traditions.

A Psychospiritual Approach on Possession and Exorcism

Casting Out Satan Through Psycho-Exorcism

Every race and culture has a similar idea on possession and exorcism. Most of them believe that possession is caused by Satan and can only be healed by the exorcist. This concept is not always true. There have been studies that out of five thousand cases of possession, there may be only one case caused by Satan. Majority of the cases are caused by a phenomenon known as Dissociative Identity Disorder or other spiritual problems. This book introduces the concept of possession and teaches the readers the step by step procedures of psycho-exorcism.

Eucharistic Face of the Filipino Priesthood

From Brokenness to Wholeness

Msgr. Fernando G. Gutierrez

In the miraculous feeding of the crowds, it is said, "Jesus (italics added), taking the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, said the blessing, broke the loaves..." (Matthew 14:19). For the Middle Easterners breaking bread or eating together symbolizes unity and camaraderie or good fellowship with family and friends. The crowds were broken by poverty, hunger and sickness; most of them were oppressed and shunned by society and synagogues as sinners. The disciples were broken too by poverty and helplessness for they had nothing with which to feed such hungry and tired humongous crowds. Jesus not only ate with the people, but also showed compassion for them and transformed their broken needs into wholeness and complete satisfaction. "They all ate and were satisfied." (Matthew 14:19).

Becoming a Leaven of Society

The Catholic Church & Philippine Politics in the Light of the Second Plenary Council

Aloysius Lopez Cartagenas

There are those who seek reforms in the Church but cannot go beyond mere slogans like 'option for the poor' or 'church for social transformation'. Aloysius Cartagenas succeeds brilliantly in avoiding the pitfalls of sloganeering as he offers concrete suggestions on how the Church can be truly a leaven of Filipino society. The Philippine Church will do well if she listens to the suggestions coming from one of her faithful sons. After all, his call for changes in how the Church does her mission clearly arises from his love for the Church and not from an adherence to any ideology.

Into Deep Water

Exploring Difficult Bible Texts

Nil Guillemette

This is a book of exegetical essays centered for the most part on the figure of Jesus. The first essay introduces the reader to a type of literature (apocalypticism) which provides a key for understanding correctly what the evangelists are trying to tell us concerning the beginning of Jesus' ministry: his baptism at the Jordan and his subsequent temptations in the desert. The next three essays are an attempt to answer the question: why the Bible miracles? Then the next essay analyzes Jesus' very nuanced attitude towards law and tradition. The last two essays study the Gospel roots of the vowed religious life and of Christian freedom. All in all this book is about digging below the surface of the Bible text. This kind of undertaking very often yields unexpected treasures...
